

- ① Driver Manager manages the set of JDBC drivers that are available for an application to use. Each application specifies a JDBC driver by using a Uniform Resource Locator (URL). Manages a list of database drivers. It is used to register and de-register a driver. It handles the connection between a driver to the database. Driver enable a single Java application to connect with a variety of databases.
- ② BLOB (Binary Large Object) is a MySQL datatype can store binary data such as images, multimedia and PDF files for storing image files:

SQL server image and VARBINARY DataTypes

unstructured files can be stored in the VAR BINARY or IMAGE column of a SQL server table